PRECHARGED AIRGUNS

www.brocock.co.uk

No other airgun looks like it or performs like it. Its bull-pup style carbine-length shortens the Compatto to just 864 mm (34 inches) but retains a full length 457 mm (18 inch) barrel for maximum shots and power. The Compatto now comes in two versions: the original cylinder type from 2016 is joined by an all new 'BANTAM' version that features a choice of air cylinder options.

The Compatto takes Brocock to a new design standard.

HOW SLINGSHOT WORKS

The slingshot hammer is contained within a metal cage. This springs forward on trigger release whereupon it's brought to a rapid halt allowing the hammer contained within to carry on, striking open the main valve under inertia. A pulse of high pressure air is then released to drive the pellet up the bore. Assisted by air pressure and a return spring, the open valve is then closed, and the hammer moves rearwards in what would normally be the 'bounce' stage. However, the patented Slingshot system prevents the valve opening further, thus ensuring no unnecessary air wastage
